

WANTED - STUDENT/ INTERN - MANAGE- MENT CONSULTING

WHAT YOU WILL DO?

You will enrich our team of consultants in the middle and back office. First, this includes supporting work on project deliverables - mostly with functional, financial, and technical aspects. Second, this includes marketing, sales support, process implementation and optimization. You support projects and clients relations. Goals and guidelines will help you, as will our staff. You will work directly with our consultants, gaining and developing hard and soft skills. You will not be assigned to do non-business relevant work, have endless and senseless meetings, or be fenced off the interesting parts. We will work with you on a level playing field.

We cannot be more concrete, there are new challenges every day!

WHAT LKPU WILL DO FOR YOU?

Despite COVID, you will learn relevant things and grow personally at LKPU. You will acquire skills and qualifications and get a decent remuneration. At LKPU, you will get deep and rapid insight in the management consulting business.

We support you with your thesis and papers and will be evaluating and deciding together how your areas of interest fit in our consulting context. We teach you to master all aspects of Management Consulting, working with motivated, disciplined, skilled and accomplished people.

At LKPU you will be guided and coached enjoying the benefits of an innovative boutique consultancy. Besides building a network and growing by the day - you simply might want to stay.

WHAT YOUR QUALIFICATIONS?

Tick the boxes and reach out!

- You are closing in on your Master's degree or PhD with an outstanding record of academic achievements
- You do Psychology, Economics, Business or Natural Science
- You are self-motivated and disciplined
- You are curious about your life, management consulting and the universe around you
- You are an outstanding team player with respective manner and spirit
- You treat everyone and everything around you with due respect
- You are a great listener with outstanding English and German communication skills (any additional language is a strong plus)
- You love and do sports and balance body and soul

